BCC has never turned a child away because of financial circumstances. In light of COVID-19, and in the interest of safety for our community, we are planning for online and hybrid rehearsal structures in the fall. With many cuts to expenses, we are thankful to be able to remain open during this time; however, we still have significant operational costs. We are trying to keep as many of our staff employed, including our incredible part-time teaching and artistic staff. Additionally, we hope to bring our families innovative programming using the best equipment and technology available for streaming online sessions and making video and audio recordings. Because of these and other expenses, our tuition rates are remaining the same as in years past.

We understand that this has been an unprecedented time for all of us and that many in our community have lost income. We do not take this lightly. We will continue to base our tuition rates on a sliding scale, purely on the honor system. Again, we never turn away any child for financial reasons, so please do not let this hinder your participation. If you are unable to make a tuition payment, please reach out to us at info@bostonchildrenschorus.org.

We are concurrently running a campaign to raise money for singer tuition, so if you are able to pay your singer's tuition and interested in doing more, please consider making a gift to support tuition for BCC families during this time. Thank you for your continued support of BCC, and we look forward to this exciting new season together!
